

More about AIRnID

Our Cognitive Identification solution AIRnID is short for:

Association + Interpretation + Recognition = IDentification

Cognitive Identification is a leading part of the neural-digital revolution hitting cyber security. The use of your thoughts to verify your physical person is more accurate and powerful than any current Verified Identity Assurance solution found today.

The use of Life Words and Life Terms to recall Life Experiences is what sets cognitive identification apart from other ID solutions.

We have developed a short AIRnID Test Drive to encourage people to try out. We want you to experience first hand how CogID can help secure your entire digital world.

Your Life, Your Mind, Verifying Your Identity
